Risky Play
The current generation of children’s access and opportunity for engaging in risk taking through play has never been lower. Safety concerns and fears of litigation have resulted in excessive protection by parents, schools, parks and others. There are unintended negative implications of this anxiety-based approach to children’s risky play. Children have limited access to crucial experiences that promote development, physical and mental health. This interactive and interdisciplinary workshop will present tools from child development, injury prevention and landscape architecture. Participants will review the supporting research; learn skills for shifting parents’, educators’, and policy makers’ attitudes toward risky play, and tips for designing play spaces to promote challenge and development.
This workshop is a partnership between CDC Supported Child Development and CCRR.

8:30am – 3:30pm
Cost: $15

Parent Education

The Strengthening Families Program is a chance for parents, caregivers and their children to develop their skills as a family. Parents and children learn new skills together and separately. In the parent sessions, focus is on communication, building a stronger relationship with your child and dealing with difficult behaviors. In the children groups, kids learn to problem solve, manage their feelings, increase their coping skills and improve relationships with others. Children and parents then meet for a family session practicing what they have learned. The program runs for 14 weeks. Each session is 2.5hrs and will include a fully prepared nutritious and delicious meal. We are inviting families with a child aged 6-11 years old to participate, and childcare is provided for children under 6. If you’re interested, contact 250-564-3568 or info@pgnfc.com

Community Care Licensing
The purpose of the Community Care Licensing program is to make sure that licensed facilities are healthy and safe environments for adults, youth and children in care. We represent the public and families who rely on care providers to look after their loved ones. Daycares or residential care facilities that provide care and supervision to three or more children, who aren't related to the caregiver, need a community care facility license. If you or someone you know is providing a type of care that may require a license, please feel free to contact us. Northern Health Licensing Officers are pleased to assist with the application process. More information can be found on our website at http://www.northernhealth.ca/YourHealth/CommunityCareLicensing.aspx
